The Saint Patrick's Day Dinner with the HARBOR Chapter

In keeping with the traditional Irish saying: "There are two kinds of people in the world - the Irish and those who wish they were". The Officers of the HARBOR CHAPTER and the SAN FERNANDO VALLEY CHAPTER, SAR, invite you to participate in the second annual SAINT PATRICK'S DAY - SAR dinner. Last year, all those attending had a great time, with the Harbor Chapter roasting our President in a manner befitting a true Irishman. This year the San Fernando Valley Chapter is suppose to re- turn the honors, however, we anticipate being roasted again. It's great fun, in the best tradition of S.A.R. fellowship. Please mark your calendars 19 MARCH 1984 - The location will be announced in the March issue of the Valley Compatriot.

Our Publicity

Whenever the Chapter has a special event, awards any decorations, or specifically, has an event like the installation of Officers dinner as we did on the 21th, of January a newsrelease is sent to The Daily News; The Burbank Daily Review; The Glendale News Press; The Glendale Star; The Record Ledger; The Sun Valley Scene, The Valley Scene; L.A. Times, Etc. Unfortunately, no one Compatriot receives all of these newspapers. Please watch your local paper carefully, and if you see an article on the S.A.R. clip it out and give it to our Chapter Historian.

Compatriot Philip R. Giltmier
Chapter Historian

Reservations

Each time a reservation is made thru the Chapter, it is immediately relayed to the facilities in which the event is going to be held. In today's restaurant environment, a 'reservation' equals a 'guarantee'. Unless cancelled three (3) days before the event, the guarantee is held in effect, and with the size of the chapter, this factor made the difference between a profit or a loss. Therefore, please GUARANTEE your reservations by submitting your check even if your a 'no-show'.

Compatriots in the news

Give a busy man a job to do and he'll find the time to accomplish it. That old maxim seems to apply very much to our Chapter. ROBERT C. EMREY has stepped down as our founding Secretary this year. He is also stepping down after three years as President of the Southern California Genealogical Society. LTC PAUL F. JORGENSEN has stepped down as Chapter Treasurer, but is serving as the President of the San Fernando Valley's Retired Officers Association. And last but not least, Rev. ROBERT "JUD" WILEY, accepted a 3,400 member Church in El Paso, hence stepped down as our Founding Chaplain. Thank you for all the great work.

At the Installation dinner, January 21st, several awards were given. ROBERT C. EMREY received his War Service Medal as did MARVIN HUTCHINS. Marv's presentation was a bit different. The medal was pinned on him by his young son, EUGENE, who is champion Ice Skater, and the light of his father's eyes. Also, Past President DONALD N. MORAN was awarded the Bronze Good Citizenship medal and a plaque for his service as Chapter President. The National Society's President-General, Compatriot WARREN G. HAYES has appointed DONALD N. MORAN to his second NSSAR Committee Post - The SAR Magazine Advisory Committee.

THE "OTHER" RIDE

Every school child in America knows the famous poem from the pen of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow - - "Listen, My children, and you shall hear - of the midnight ride of Paul Revere - On the eighteenth of April, in Seventy-Six Hardly a man is now alive - who remembers that famous day and year. . . ." But, what of the "OTHER" ride. Long neglected by history, it undoubtedly had a greater impact on the outcome of the American Revolution than did Paul Revere's ride. The following is a brief story of one of the most daring rides in history.

The hero of this unbelievable story, Jack Jouett, looked the part of a hero. He stood a towering 6 ft 4 inches tall, weighed 220 pounds, and it was said of him "evidenced muscular development and not adiposity", and in one local account was described as 'handsome'. Jouett was a Captain of Virginia Militia and was stationed in the Charlottesville, Virginia area. Late on the evening of June 3rd, Captain Jouett was asleep on the lawn in front of the "Cuckoo Tavern" (now a private residence). He was awakened by the sound of a large number of horsemen. Sitting up, he observed a large unit of the dreaded "White-Coats", a nick-name given to the British Dragoons in Colonel Banastre (the Butcher) Tarleton's regiment. Tarleton himself was leading the cavalry column. Jouett was quick to realize the objective of this force. The Virginia General Assembly was in session, at Charlottesville, some forty-miles from the Cuckoo Tavern, and Governor Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Herny, and many other notorious 'rebels' were there. They were virtually helpless, as most of Virginia's fighting men were up north with General George Washington, and the local Militia was ill-equipped and too few in numbers to stop Tarleton. The young General, the Marquis de LaFayette who had been so successfully harassing the British, Tarleton in particular, was too far away to be of any assistance. The enormity of the situation sat squarely on Captain Jouetts broad shoulders. He and he alone had to save the General Assembly. It was utterly impossible! A forty-mile horse back ride in the middle of the night over rough terrain. Revere rode only 15 miles over good roads! Col. Tarleton certainly had advanced scouts on the road to Charlottesville, hence that route was denied to Jouett. He had to go through the tangled Virginia backwoods.

JEFFERSON'S HOME "MONTICELLO"

GOVERNOR THOMAS JEFFERSON

No sooner had the hoofbeats of the British Dragoons faded into the night, when Captain Jouett saddled his horse and pludded into the dense woods. Virginia Dabney wrote in his version of this story in the June, 1928 issue of Scribner's magazine - "The unfrequented pathway over which this horseman set out on his all-night journey can only be imagined. His progress was greatly impeded by matted undergrowth, tangled bush, overhanging vines and gullies . . . his face was cruelly lashed by tree limbs as he rode forward and scars were said to have remained the rest of his life were the result of lacerations sustained from these low-hanging branches."

A speedy horse, a strong will, and with the aid of a full moon gave Captain Jouette a slight advantage. With the first light of dawn he arrived at Thomas Jefferson's famous home, Monticello. He awoke

Governor Jefferson and some of the Virginia Legislators who were staying at Monticello, then without hesitation, the exhausted Captain turned his horse and galloped to Charlottesville to spread the alarm. The Assemblymen at Charlottesville scattered, but only after voting to reconvene on June 7th at Staunton.

Shortly after Governor Jefferson received the warning, he dispatched his family, gathered his important papers and then, he too departed. In his haste, he dropped his light walking sword. Realizing it a few minutes later, he returned to Monticello and retrieved it. While there he observed British Dragoons. Mounting his horse he again galloped away.

He was very much involved in gaining statehood for what is now Kentucky, and later imported fine horses and cattle from England. It is said that he established the livestock industry of Kentucky. Captain Jack Jouett died on March 1st, 1822 at the home of his daughter in Bath County, Kentucky. His place of burial is unknown.

Stuart G. Gibbony, President of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation said of Jack Jouett in 1926: "But for Captain Jack Jouett's heroic ride, there would have been no Yorktown and the Revolutionists would have been only unsuccessful rebels." A fitting tribute to a gallant Patriot.

President Moran's Farewell

resident Hawkins, Ladies, Compatriots and Guests. Three years ago, just three short years, the shortest, most rewarding years of my life I might add, I have been privileged to serve as your Chapter President. During that time, I have represented you at six state Society meetings, three National Society congresses, including the one in Paris, France which marked the Bicentennial; numerous joint meetings, committee meetings and thirty-four Chapter meetings! Stated in other terms, I have travelled approximately 34,000 miles on behalf of the Chapter. I have only missed one meeting, the founding meeting. I was hospitalized at the time, and was elected president! I haven't missed a meeting since.

I am often asked: Why do you devote so much time and spend so much money on an organization such as the S.A.R. ? I think my answer to that question may interest you, and it will certainly explain my enthusiasm.

When I first joined the Society and was asked by friends about my membership, I would give a non-committal answer. I was very reluctant to say anything that might be construed as "flag waving". Here in the "people's republic of California" patriotism and Faith in God are not demonstrated openly - or so I thought.

Then, along came the Bicentennial. Our Country's 200th Birthday! I too, was caught up in the excitement - something very special was going to happen - a once in a life time event that I could be involved in. As I always do on such occasions, I headed for my bookseller. I needed a publication that would tell me everything I needed to know about the Bicentennial and all of it's activities. The book shop had but one such book, published by Simon and Schuster, entitled: "AMERICA'S BIRTHDAY - A PLANNING AND ACTIVITY GUIDE FOR CITIZEN'S PARTICIPATION DURING THE BICENTENNIAL YEARS". The title suggested it was exactly what the 'doctor had ordered' - the price, a modest $3.95. So I bought a copy, went home to educate myself on matters Bicentennial. I started to read with great enthusiasm. It began, and I quote ..

" . . . the forces about to be unleashed in America's Bicentennial Era are ours to take hold of. We must assert the ideals that have driven Americans throughtout our history to struggle for justice, equality and popular control of social institutions. Our revolutionary principles must be used to challenge existing institutions and those in power by constantly focusing public attention on the "New Tories" inability to wise man once said, "a picture is worth a thousand words" So . . . here are six pictures, or six-thousand words to describe the INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS BANQUET, held on January 21st. Honored by the presence of State President and Mrs. Leland B. Hawkins, and over fifty per cent of our Chap-membership, the evening has to be declared a rousing success.

translate our revolutionary dreams into reality. A peoples Bicentennial can inspire a new social energetic commitment for millions of disillusioned Americans.

The Bicentennial Era presents us with a unique opportunity to address the two major issues of the 1970's . . . the arrogant, kinglike usurping and concentration of power within the Executive Branch in gross violation of the Constitution - and the rise of a corporate aristocracy unresponsive to the needs of the people . . . ."

I read no more! Did I really read what I had just read? Unfortunately - yes! Who's revolutionary goals was the author alluding too? Certainly not the objectives of our Founding Fathers. . . this was outright propaganda! Communist propaganda! The writer had the unmitigated gall to include chapters on "Teacher versus Student"; "Cooperation versus Competition"; "Diversifying the Campus"; "Organizing a peoples Bicentennial Committee in your Community". This was straight out of the Communist Manifesto! I was shocked to think that this attractively titled book was the only Bicentennial guide book available to the American people. I could hardly believe that this propaganda had been printed and sold in the United States. It would have been more understandable had it been smuggled in from Moscow.

I started showing it to close friends and talking about it with people more knowledgeable than I on the subject. I was told that I had been wandering thru life with my eyes closed. "Look around you and see the extent of the propaganda efforts" they said. I did and I could hardly believe my own eyes. Needless to say, I was infuriated, but what can one American do? I did what most of the Compatriots in this room have been doing for years. I started showing my colors - RED, WHITE and BLUE! I consistently wear my S.A.R. lapel pin, or my blazer with the S.A.R. badge on the breast pocket. When questioned about the colorful insignia, I would respond with reasons for being a member of the S.A.R. which are, that within the organization is a fine nucleus of men who share a faith in our creator, and a strong love of Country, and a belief in the principles of our founding fathers. And they are not afraid nor hesitant to acknowledge those beliefs publicly. Then I would explain what observations I had made on what was really going on. I have no fear of a Soviet missile attack - - why should they? They are tearing us apart from within. The very fibre of America is being pulled apart by the manipulation of our institutions.

But, how many people was I reaching? Not many. How could I compete with the mass media? Could I compete better thru an organization such as the S.A.R.? Not really, not effectively, the S.A.R. is admittedly weak. 20,000 weak nationwide! But, if the S.A.R. was 200,000 strong, or better yet, 2,000,000 strong, then and only then could we drowned out the VOICES of subversion with the message of our founding fathers - liberty and freedom - the message that made this the greatest Country the World has ever seen.

It was suggested that the San Fernando Valley needed a S.A.R. Chapter, and so it was that a group of good men put this chapter together. That was three years ago, and we have accomplished much, but we are still not 200,000 strong - not yet! But, we are a little closer than we were!

We were the first new chapter in California in seventeen years. And, because of our early successes, others in the S.A.R. were encouraged to start new chapters. Long Beach, Harbor, South Coast were started - in Northern California, the same story, new chapters! And new chapters translate into new and more members!

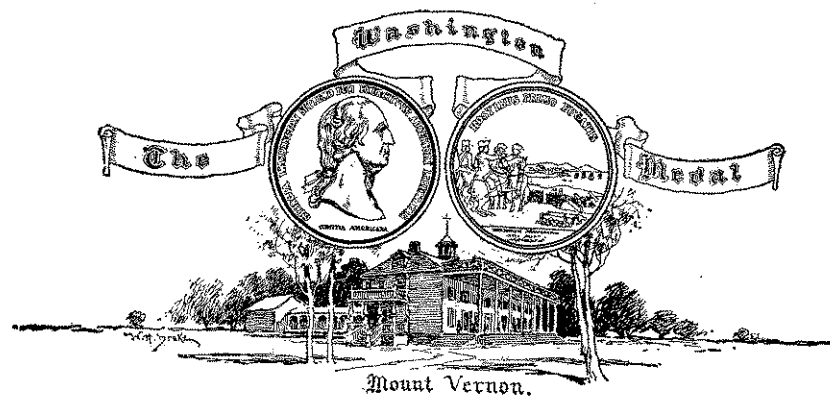

I have tried, thru the medium of our own publications to spread the word, not by screaming "We're under attack!" but by showing what a little hard work can accomplish. That's the positive side of America - achievement, to strive to do your best and to be the best. American's do not like losers!

That ladies and gentlemen is the primary thing that motivates my S.A.R. involvement - the building of a Society strong enough to be heard. It is also the driving force behind the San Fernando Valley Chapter - the preservation of our principles of liberty and our Constitutional Republic - a belief so strong that it is part of our pledge to the S.A.R.

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said: "There is no greater thing a man can do but to build bridges - - - to make the path easier for those who come after him". And that is what we are about - building an American bridge for the future generations of Americans.

I can not leave the office of Chapter President without saying a few words about the men I have been privileged to lead. You guys have added a whole new meaning to the title "compatriot". Webster's dictionary defines "Compatriot" as simply meaning "fellow Countryman" - - but to me, it will always mean the closest of friends, the strongest of supporters, and the very best advisors. So, thank you COMPATRIOTS for letting me serve you these past three years."

Donald Norman Moran
Past-President

President Bellah's Inaugural Address

ince its formation in April of 1981, the San Fernando Valley Chapter, S.A.R. has had an astounding record of growth and achievement. Starting from nothing, we have become the primary small Chapter in the state as well as the nation. We have received the Charlotte Lund Woodward award for the best newsletter and have established the national format for all chapter newsletters. Compared with other California chapters, we have consistently sent the greatest number of delegates to state and national events and we have sponsored one of the most successful state conventions ever held.

In assuming the leadership of such a chapter, I am well aware of the herculean responsibilities I accept simply because mere adequacy in the leadership of this chapter would, anywhere else, be considered near perfection. The mean here is excellence - - the norm, superiority - - the average, the unrivaled.

Given no more than a scribbled sketch of hopes, Donald Moran created a magnificent blueprint. Following that blueprint, he has built a solid foundation and readied it for the structure to be placed thereon. Now, it becomes my duty -- and the duty of all future presidents - - to form the architecture which could ultimately become the definitive pattern for every S.A.R. chapter in the nation.

In approaching the task, I am acutely aware of our nation's motto and what it should mean to each of us as applied to the S.A.R. E Pluribus unum tells me two things: It speaks of the unity of the whole and of strength in numbers.

It tells me we are one great society and implies a singleness of purpose. It also allows me to infer that petty politics should have no place in the operation of such a society or in the attainment of its goals.

E pluribus unum also implies that more strength is possible in union if more individuals are willing to participate in achieving the goals of the society as a whole. To me, this means not merely increasing our membership but increasing it with active, dynamic and dedicated individuals - - gentlemen who are willing and able to work to achieve the common weal.

Thus, the motto of my presidency will be the nation's motto. In following it, I hope our chapter can become substantially stronger in purpose, larger in number and more active in terms of individual participation.

My platform will, I hope, balance on a tripod of alliances. The legs of that platform will be (1) alliance with youth. (2) alliance with other S.A.R. Chapters and (3) alliance with organizations indicative of the greater American society as a whole.

I hope to be able to develop a viable and continuing program with the youth of the San Fernando Valley so that our chapter can recognize outstanding members of the Junior R.O.T.C. and the California Cadet Corps. I hope to do the same thing with the Boy Scouts of America and perhaps even the Cub Scouts.

I also hope to be able to award some outstanding young man graduating from private secondary school with some recognition of his patriotic achievement. Finally, I propose to contact the various chapters of the D.A.R. here in the Valley in an effort to co-sponsor the formation of a San Fernando Valley Chapter of the C.A.R.

Youth, as we all know, is the time when the seeds of adult behavior are planted and cultivated. Those seeds can be of the tares and thorns of apathy and anti-social contempt or they can be acorns of patriotism and spiritual strength. We have a duty to sow the fallow soil of youth with the grains of honor, duty and service which will grow into our future adult leadership.

My second proposed alliance will be with other S.A.R. Chapters in our general geographic area. Immediately upon accepting office, I will contact a number of other, newly elected presidents and propose to them a quarterly or semi-annual meeting of our general memberships. At that time, we can all assemble socially, meet one another and reaffirm our common goals. More important, we can air mutual problems and discuss common difficulties. We can work together for the greater good of our individual chapters and the Society as a whole. Unlike other similar meetings which have, in the past, been called merely to commemorate historic events, to present awards or to speechify, these will be working meetings in a social context.

My final, but perhaps most important, proposed alliance will be a closer involvement with those elements of our society which constitute its pillars of true strength. There are, of course, the military and civil authorities. In this, I will attempt to have our chapter participate publicly in as many events of an "establishmental" nature as possible.

I believe my tripodal platform is sound of concept and ideologically viable. In facing hard facts, however, I realize that it simply cannot be implemented as an actuality without the support of the chapter as a whole and the individual members thereof. Because I cannot achieve these goals alone, I ask your cooperation during the coming year. I am pledged to serve you and the chapter. I ask that you help me to honor that pledge and to perform the tasks which lie ahead. Working together, I am strong in the conviction that, God willing, we can move forward and upward to become an even greater S.A.R. Chapter.

LtC James Bellah, II

Welcome New Compatriot

It is always a great pleasure to welcome a gentlemen into membership in the S.A.R. It is even more rewarding when that man has already rolled up his sleeves and gone to work for the Chapter. Such in the case with COMPATRIOT WALTER HIGH WALLEY. Immediately following the installation dinner, Walter put five ladies into the CSSAR's Ladies Auxillary. His wife Dorothy, two sisters and two nieces! Walter descends from Colonel Daniel McFarland, who's biography is below.

Colonel Daniel McFarland

The McFarland ancestors of Compatriot Walter H. Walley originally came from Argyleshire, Scotland, settling for about a century in Ulster. The first immigrant to the Americas was also named Daniel. arriving in Boston in 1718 in the company of a long list of Scottish Presbyterians. The first Daniel died in 1738, and in his will mentions seven children: Andrew, Daniel, Eliner, James, Margaret (who married a Mr. Campbell), and Margery (who married Mr. McKelvey).

Andrew, the eldest son of Daniel married Rebecca Gray and had eight children: Andrew, William, John, James, Margaret, Daniel, Rebecca and Eliner. Adrew died at Worcester, Massachusetts on June 4th, 1761, aged 71 years. His wife, Rebecca died the following year on March 20th, 1762, aged 62 years.

Colonel Daniel McFarland, the sixth child of Andrew and Rebecca was born at Worcester on September 2nd, or 9th, 1731. He married Sarah, the daughter of Robert Barber and Sarah Gray. His wife was born on July 23rd, 1730. They had ten children: William born 17 Dec. 1756; Sarah born 19 Nov. 1760, married Stephen Cook; Dolly, born 6 June 1762 married James Millikin; Daniel, born 24 January 1764; Abel, born 27 July 1765; Anna, born 5 Jan. 1767, married John Smiley; James, born 31 July 1768, died 16 July 1769. and Elizabeth, born 31 Dec. 1769.

Between 1756 and 1767 Daniel held several important offices in the town government. He migrated to Burlington, New Jersey in 1768 where his two youngest children were born. When his daughter, Sarah married Stephen Cook, the bride and groom migrated to Washington County, Pennsylvania. A few years later we find Daniel McFarland and family in residence in the same county.

Tradition tells us that during the French and Indian War Daniel saw service as a Captain of a Volunteer Company from Worcester. Therefore he was an obvious choice for Command when the Revolution started. We find a reference to him on page 458, Volume 23, third series, Pennsylvania Archives, in the following quotation: "Captain John Wetzels Company, muster roll of Company of rangers of Monongahela County, under the Command of Colonel Daniel McFarland; ranging in Monongahela and Ohio County's from 22nd April to 25th July, 1778. Other records indicate that his rangers covered most of the South Western parts of Pennsylvania and part of adjoining Virginia. At one time, Colonel McFarland commanded an estimated 800 men.

Daniel not only served his Country; but so did three of his sons: Abel, William and Daniel. And his two sons in-law, John Smiley and Stephen Cook also saw service.

Daniel dealt in land quite extensively. He made twenty-one sales of land in Washington County and sold several thousand acres in Greene County between the years 1796 and 1806 as shown in the land records at the Court house.

He and his son, William were admitted to membership in the Presbyterian Church at Ten Mile in May of 1783, on profession of faith. His wife Sarah was one of the first or charter members of this Church, which was organized 15 August 1781.

Sarah McFarland died on January 26th, 1810 according to her tombstone at Amity, Pennsylvania. Colonel Daniel McFarland died several years later, on December 14th, 1817 in Washington County.
